

March 2021 - Short Newsletter

After a year of no riding we have at long last had the green light saying that we can start again! Our three ponies Sooty, Tor and Daisy have been having a lovely long holiday out in the field. They are now coming back into work so they will be ready when we restart at the end of the month - quite a shock to them!

Four of us entered the Southwest Region Art Competition and two of them were placed, the last two below. There were over thirty entries from across the Region so there was good competition and it was fun doing something creative while we have been in lockdown.

Covid has been no ones friend so the fact we can restart riding again is such good news. All the helpers are ready so are the ponies and it will be great to see all our riders again! Thank you all for your patience over the past year and from now it's onwards and upwards!
